México

Valle de Bravo, located 145 kms south-west of Mexico City, is an amazing 18th century town nestled on the shore of beautiful Lake Avándaro surrounded by a forested volcanic mountain range.

The old town centre features time-worn cobble stone alleys and traditional adobe homes and colonial buildings. Blessed with great weather and moderate temperatures, Valle serves as the perfect backdrop for multiple outdoor sports such as quad and dirt bike riding, mountain biking, paragliding, wakeboarding, kayaking, rock climbing, hiking, sailing, golf, tennis, and horse back riding. Given its status as a favorite holiday destination for Mexico City's elite, Valle's many excellent restaurants offer a seducing array of gourmet dining experiences.
